About UofSC The University of South Carolina System is comprised of the state's flagship university in Columbia (founded in 1801 and currently one of the top 50 "Best Colleges" according to U.S. News and World Report), three regional comprehensive universities (USC Aiken, USC Beaufort and USC Upstate), and Palmetto College consisting of four two-year campuses (USC Lancaster, USC Salkehatchie, USC Sumter, USC Union and Fort Jackson/Extended University). Together, the USC System institutions offer more than 450 degree programs on campus and online and are uniquely positioned to meet the state's educational, cultural, health and research needs. The System employs nearly 14,000 people who work daily to improve the lives of students, fellow South Carolinians and the world. Our diverse engaged faculty and staff enjoy a dynamic and intellectually stimulating work environment.

Diversity Statement At the University of South Carolina, we strive to cultivate an inclusive environment that is open, welcoming, and supportive of individuals of all backgrounds. We recognize diversity in our workforce is essential to providing academic excellence and critical to our sustainability. The University is committed to eliminating barriers created by institutional discrimination through accountability and continuous process improvement. We celebrate the diverse voices, perspectives, and experiences of our employees.

Advertised Job Summary We are seeking applications for a non-tenure track 9-month faculty appointment as a Clinical Assistant Professor to begin August 2022. Equity, inclusiveness and diversity are integral to the Department of Instruction and Teacher Education's commitment to excellence in research, instruction, and engagement. We encourage applications from candidates who identify with groups that are historically underrepresented and underserved in the STEM disciplines, and we are interested in candidates who have demonstrated a commitment to building equitable and diverse scholarly environments. The successful candidate will join a department dedicated to the use of curriculum that is culturally responsive to the students it serves.

Responsibilities of the successful candidate include: 1) teaching graduate courses in the Educational Practice and Innovation online EdD degree program with a concentration in STEM Education; 2) delivering course content including integrated STEM Curriculum/Theory/Leadership/Change, Equity Pedagogies, and Research Methods; 3) advising and directing doctoral dissertations; 4) engaging in curriculum development and research for the STEM program; and 5) supporting the service needs of the STEM program, the Instruction and Teacher Education department, and the College of Education.

Required Education and Experience

Candidates must have an earned PhD or EdD in Teaching and Learning with a STEM area focus, Curriculum and Instruction, Foundations, or a related field. Experience with online teaching/learning formats (e.g., Blackboard, Microsoft Teams, Zoom) with an ability to incorporate innovative pedagogies around school/community-based learning and professional development is required. Must have excellent teaching skills, evidence of a continued record of scholarly productivity, and the ability to work cooperatively with doctoral candidates and colleagues.

Preferred Qualifications

Evidence of or interest in working with and mentoring students from underrepresented and underserved groups in the STEM fields is preferred. Candidates with expertise in action and improvement science research, paradigms of social justice in education, and STEM area preparation for P-12 and higher education will be given strong consideration. Evidence of academic scholarship including publications and research presentations is desirable.
